Miscellaneous Ramblings from Ye Olde Editor

Apologies for being so late with this newsletter. Really should have gotten this out weeks ago. Be looking for another fun-filled and exciting issue sometime around the end of January or thereabouts. (emphasis on the thereabouts).

Well, sorry to say that it's again that time of year..... Club Dues are due! Included in this issue is a membership renewal form. Ya'll please get this taken care of soon, ya hear? Less work for the secretary/treasurer when it's wrapped up instead of spread out.

Included in this issue is the first edition of the 2008 control line calendar, which covers activities in our region which should be of interest to club members. The Oregon control line clubs will again be hosting a quartet of fun fly events, see enclosed flyer. Attending all of these is a great way of packing some early season flying in, plus meeting fellow CL fliers from around the area. The weather was a bit rough on us last year, so hopefully we will luck out this time around.

As many of you have noticed, our grass circle flying area has been encroached upon by rental truck parking. The airport management and rental company were gracious in clearing this for our Fall Follies contest, but things are back to before. The airport management reports that there will be improvements made in the parking situation, none of which will affect our paved circle, or our parking by same. But, we may be without the grass circle for a little while. Meanwhile, you can squeeze in some shorter-line flying right next to the paved circle.

Members, if you have any ideas for activities in the coming year, pass them on to a club officer. Hey, isn't it about time for a club meeting? Later! mwh

2007 FALL FOLLIES
OCTOBER 6 & 7
SALEM, OREGON

This years edition of our contest season-ending event was wild and windy. You can look thru the results and see that many fliers opted to maximize their time in the air.

Still, we had 26 entrants and a good time. As the Sunday bag lunch was served, it was determined that this was really the end of the day. So, awards were then handed out and everyone hit the road early. Wouldn't you know it.... the next weekend had much better weather. Oh well.
