Miscellaneous Ramblings from Ye Olde Editor

Hope your Springtime has included plenty of flying action. The weather has been a bit hit and miss but there's always some breaks.

The Portland contest in April was a good'un. We were rained out on Friday for the speed action but squeezed some flights the next day. There was plenty of combat and stunt action the rest of the weekend.

In late May the traditional NW CL Regionals took place at the Eugene airport. There was a little nasty weather, but more good than bad. There was a pretty good turnout of competitors and a huge entry in most of the stunt events. As usual, plenty of pix and the full results are available for viewing on the Flying Lines website. Check it out! Several WOLF members were in attendance.

Coming up next month is our ever popular Lucky Hand Fun Fly! We encourage everyone to attend this event and participate or just spectate. We usually expect several types of planes, as everything is eligible to fly. This is a fund raiser for the club, but someone will come away with a fist full of cash just for doing some sport flying. Check out the enclosed flyer for the rest of the details. If you want to come and fly but don't want to participate in the poker draw, that's OK too! See you there.

Yes, this is a thin skimpy issue of the WOLF CALL. It seems ye olde editor now has a tight time squeeze..... recently got started on building a new house. This will be a replacement for our current house on our property. Hope to have it done by the end of the year. Meanwhile, modeling activities will be a bit lean for me. But I am looking forward to having a real modeling workshop once again.

Later all! mwh
